RUNAWAY SMASHES WINDOW

A team of horses belonging to Mr. T. D. Garrison of Mt. Olivet, became frightened at explosions from an automobile in the Central Garage and smashed through the large plate glass window of the office of the Mint Cola Company in Sutton street Monday at noon. Miss Maude Rains, the stenographer of the Mint Cola firm had just stepped out or she probably would have been badly cut by flying glass, as the window was near her desk. The horses were soon quieted down and the broken window is the extent of the damage.

PURCHASE HOUSE BOAT

Messrs. Max Middleman, Julian Bell, and Edward Newell, purchased a nifty house boat from up the river parties on Monday and will put the craft in order in order in time for the bathing season when it will be moored to the North Shore. The citizens of this city are just awakening to the value of the North Shore as a summer resort and as a result many are purchasing house boats and spending the summer. About sixteen house boats will be moored there this summer, and great times are in store for all.

RESCUED FROM THE OHIO TWICE IN TWO DAYS

Louisville, Ky., May 31. — For the second time in two days, Lula Essex, negro, jumped into the Ohio River at the foot of Second street yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. At Dugan's landing late Friday night she waded out into the river, but was discovered by a watchman before she reached deep water. The watchman, Jim Ferguson, again saw her in the river and went to the rescue, calling the life savers at the same time. They rescued her from the water and summoned policemen, who locked her up. She said she wanted to kill herself so she could go to heaven.

Superintendent Caplinger reported that the school census shows 1619 children of school age in Maysville. The various schools have enrolled 1113 pupils and as quite a large number of the 1619 possible students are between the ages of 18 and 20, and as many are compelled to leave school and seek employment before reaching the age of 18, the attendance in the schools is rather large.

Superintendent Caplinger also reports that he had made arrangements with Prof. W. T. Berry to conduct a Summer School for the students who are behind with their work.

Sealed bids for furnishing coal to all school buildings were presented and the bid of the Maysville Coal Company being the lowest was accepted. Its bid averaged $1.97 per ton for all coal used and the next lowest bid averaged $2.05.

It was determined that when a national holiday fell upon a Sunday the following Monday would not be observed as a holiday in the schools.

Superintendent Caplinger was granted a leave of absence to attend Summer School this year.

The committee on sanitation recommended a series of rules covering quarantine and establishing precautionary measures in cases of contagious diseases which were referred to the rules committee. A letter was read from Miss Jessie O. Yancey, County Superintendent, offering the services of the nurse of the county health league, to look after the health and welfare of the

THE BANKERS' CONVENTION.

On Thursday of last week Group Nine of the Kentucky Bankers' Association met in Maysville for its sixth annual meeting and the local bankers are to be congratulated upon securing this meeting and upon the reception accorded the visitors.

There can be no doubt that the holding of this convention in Maysville will prove of great benefit to the city and the fact that it was accomplished and so successfully handled should spur us on to greater efforts in trying to secure other conventions from each of which we shall derive like benefit.

There are arguments against inviting conventions to a city but they are really not worthy of being called arguments, are offset many times by the advantages derived from even the mere effort to obtain the convention, and usually emanate from those who, while they may recognize that the spending of one dollar will return two, would wait until the two dollars were in hand before the one was spent. The so-called arguments against such meetings for our city will make about as much impression upon the thinking business men as to argue that a railroad should not be built until the traffic is created; they are naturally top heavy and weak and are crushed by the avalanche of proven benefits to result from such conventions.

A convention, and it makes no difference what the business may be that it represents, brings together the progressive thinking men of that particular business; men who do things, men who have become representative among their fellows because of their recognized worth and ability, and to associate with such men; to listen to their discussions of the everyday problems of their business and how the difficulties have been surmounted is bound to be a benefit and a help to the best of us.

The delegates to a convention, as a rule, are men who are quick to see the opportunities which our city may offer to their business and will advertise those opportunities for us better than ever we could ourselves, and while they will be equally as quick to see faults their experience and training will render their criticisms kindly but none the less valuable because kind.

The bankers convention was obtained only by all of the banks working hand in hand and pulling together for Maysville, and it is only by such unselfish co-operation that we can get anything worth having. Let us get together, organize a strong, live, wide-awake commercial body by which our individual efforts will be concentrated into a steady pull for Maysville, first, last and all the time.

A paragraph on one of the New York papers is named G. D. Hard, and he is a new hand at the business. We wonder if he will not shortly find that his work is what his name is.

There is considerable dissatisfaction in the army with the prospect that another summer will pass without having any live Mexicans for target practice.

While the impecunious clerks are buying new straw hats, the capitalists that employ them are taking last year's hat down to be cleaned.

Who says the small boy is not patriotic, when on the National Memorial day parades he always follows along close behind the big bass drum?

A great many people are convinced that Italy should at once go to war and help save this country from the German menace.

The powers of Europe will all solemnly agree to abide by the laws of war except when they feel they are getting licked.

Plenty To Eat.

This story was recalled by Senator Coe I. Crawford, of South Dakota, when reference was made to some of the rather primitive hostilities in the alfalfa zone.

One right a traveling salesman missed the last train out of a small town and was compelled to seek lodging in the rather abbreviated local hotel. Being tired he slept well and on the following morning he hungrily entered the diningroom just as the proprietor was putting a large fish and a pot of mustard on the table.

"Is that all you have for breakfast?" asked the salesman, picking up his knife and fork and glancing at the proprietor.

"Is that all?" wonderingly exclaimed mine host. "Ain't there enough fish there for six people?"

"Yes," admitted the salesman, cheerlessly, "but I don't care for fish."

"Well, then," was the calm rejoinder of the proprietor, "fire into the mustard." — Philadelphia Telegraph.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IS THE ROAD TO ECONOMY.

As soon as the warm days come the appetite grows fickle; nothing tastes just right and the housekeeper must serve "something different."

A change from the daily beef, mutton or veal is found in ham and when it is nicely cooked there is nothing much better. The flavor must be right and the best are found in the hams called sugar cured or honey drip. These are really sweet flavored and well worth the few cents more that they cost a pound.

Once in a while you will be so unfortunate as to have ham that is too salty or is lacking in flavor and then you must use your best endeavor to make up for the deficiencies in the meat.

If the cut seems dry and salty cover it with water and let it heat gradually in a frying pan. Pour this water off and proceed to broil the ham. Add butter to it when it is done and it will surely please in its flavor.

If you like the sweet flavor of southern hams ask for it when making your purchase. Or when you cook the ham slices, if they lack the sweet quality, try this way. After the ham is pan broiled in a frying pan on top of the stove spread each slice with maple syrup and add one tablespoon of butter and a tablespoon of boiling water. Cover closely and let this steam for three minutes. Dish on a hot platter and pour liquor over it.

If you like the ham very crisp and brown put a little dripping in the frying pan and when the ham is thoroughly cooked sprinkle first one side and then the other with sugar and allow it to brown.

Ham should be very well cooked as should all pork, else it is not wholesome.

To fry eggs with ham: The combination of ham and eggs is unequalled in any other foods and so well liked is it that it would seem as if every one should know by some inherited gift how to secure the dish. But each cook must be told individually. Dish the cooked ham; there will not be a great amount of fat remaining in the frying pan so you must add more in order to have enough to dip over the eggs.

Have the frying material hot and break the eggs in one at a time. Do not turn them, as they are almost sure to break, but dip the fat up in a spoon and pour it over the yolks until they are as done as you want them to be. The whites of the eggs should be as rare as possible. Now drain all the fat to one side of the pan and lift the eggs out, letting the grease drip off them. Do not salt but always pepper them.

Cooked in this way each egg should be finished without breaking the yolk and be as rare or as done as it is desired.

SUBMARINE SEEN BY SEAMEN.

Crook Haven, Ireland, May 30.—The mate of the schooner June Rose, which has arrived here, reports that members of the schooner's crew saw a submarine at 4 o'clock last Thursday afternoon, a few hours before the American steamer Nebraskan was damaged by an explosion. The June Rose was in sight of the submarine from 20 to 30 minutes after first sighting the underwater boat west of Fastnet. United States Consul Skinner, at London, has telegraphed here for all available information concerning the presence of submarines in the vicinity of the Nebraskan.

VILLA

Turned Over By Pope To Wounded Italian Soldiers.

Rome, May 30.—The Pope has placed at the disposal of the Italian wounded his beautiful villa at Castle Candolfo, and the Dowager Queen Margherita has converted her palace in Via Veneto into a hospital. Queen Elena is arranging for the opening of hospital wards at the Quirinal, and also at the royal villas at Mantua and Verona.

The Queen has joined the Red Cross, and personally will help in nursing wounded soldiers. A cry of alarm has been raised over the possibility of German or Austrian spies being hidden in the catacombs which extend for many miles outside of Rome.

The major part of the excavations of the catacomb hitherto have been directed by Germans. The catacomb San Sebastiano until a month ago was the active scene of German spade work. It is not very far from important defensive posts. So enormous has been the rush of volunteers to join the colors that the authorities temporarily have suspended voluntary enlistment.

Despite this order recruiting bureaus are still crowded daily with applicants in the prime of manhood, pleading for enrollment in the combatant ranks.

THE BED ROOM

To often the bed room is considered as just a place to sleep; a part of the house that does not require any special attention as to lighting because it is seen only by members of the family.

Yet correct lighting arrangement—the installation of harmonious chandeliers, in a manner to give effective illumination—will make this one of the most used rooms of the whole house—a cozy home in itself.

By the use of a simple, but graceful chandelier in the center of the room, and two or more wall brackets of harmonious design, the bedroom is fitted to serve as a study or sewing room.

Then, too, a wall bracket placed at each side of the dresser adds much to the ease and pleasure of dressing. Only when she has a perfect light by which to make her toilet can Milady be absolutely certain that every little detail is as it should be.

John C. Fremont.

He was John C. Fremont, penniless explorer from South Carolina. She was Jessie Benton, a dazzling pretty schoolgirl of fifteen, daughter of the great, if peppery, Missouri Senator, Thomas H. Benton.

Fremont, son of a poor widow, was a wanderer and an adventurer from birth. He inherited these traits from the French emigrant father who had died when John was a child. The boy had been expelled from college because he preferred to explore forest trails rather than study Greek. After that he studied surveying and was a member of several Governmental exploring parties. In 1840, with honorary rank of army lieutenant, he came to Washington to complete some official reports.

There, by chance, he met little Jessie Burton, who was still at school. He was twelve years older than she, and was better fitted for camp life than for drawing-rooms. Yet he and Jessie instantly fell in love with each other. Without asking any one's consent they became engaged. Then the girl notified her hot tempered old father. And there were terrible scenes that day in the Benton home.

After the Senator had exhausted his blazing vocabulary in saying what he thought of presumptuous young scoundrels who sought to steal away rich men's daughters, he turned to diplomacy and paid a visit to the Secretary of War.

As a result of that visit Fremont was ordered next day by the War Department to start at once for the far western frontier of Iowa and there to make a long and careful investigation of conditions among the Indian tribes along the Des Moines river. Iowa in 1840 was almost as far, in matter of time, from Washington as is Egypt nowadays. Fremont, as a sworn soldier, had no recourse but to obey the order.

He clearly saw Benton's hand in the affair. But there was no redress. Off he went on the mission, leaving his weeping little sweetheart behind. But he used all speed, and long before he was expected to return he had finished his work on the frontier and was back in Washington.

Jessie, according to the general version of the story, now took charge of the situation. She explained to Fremont that her father would undoubtedly have him packed off at once on another and longer mission and might keep him out of Washington for years. So she suggested that they marry at once.

Fremont eagerly agreed. And they went secretly to a clergyman and were made man and wife. Benton, learning of it, was furious. There was another violent scene. But, says one historian, "he soon found the young man had in him many qualities that had given the indignant father his own eminent position." And, besides, it was too late to do anything but to make the best of the matter.

So the young couple were duly forgiven, and Benton went in person to the office of the leading Washington newspaper to insert a notice of the marriage. In writing the advertisement he reversed the usual order of things by placing Jessie's name ahead of Fremont's. The desk clerk pointed out the seeming blunder to him. Whereat Benton roared, with a string of red hot oaths.

"Curse it all, sir, it will go as I have written it or not at all! John Fremont didn't marry my daughter. SHE married HIM!"

Even as Benton's mighty political influence had lately been against Fremont, so now it was employed in his favor. Thanks to the Senator's "pull," the young husband was placed in command of an expedition to explore the Rockies. It was this expedition that first won for Fremont his title of "The Pathfinder." Then and always through his bright career his wife's cleverly and his wife's tireless love contributed more to his success than did all other influences put together.

Correspondence

Berea.—An error either of my own or the typesetter's, in my last letter needs correction. Speaking of the Kentucky Christian Endeavor Union that held its annual convention here the first week in May the letter stated that "President Frost presided at all the sessions." This is wrong. Rev. Homer W. Carpenter of Shelbyville, president of the C. E. Union presided at all the sessions and he is a live wire in the great work. Pres. Frost took part in several of the sessions and was made honorary member of the Union, but the only "presiding" which he did was as host at the midday lunch served to the delegates by him every day at Ladies' Hall.

Two other names were omitted in the report of this convention. Two young women whose names will stand beside others—well known as workers for the betterment of humanity—are Miss Georgia Dunn of Lexington and Miss Lewis of Cincinnati.

There was an exciting time here for a few hours Saturday evening. A number of whistles began to blow and kept it up; the bells began to ring, people rushed out of doors with panic stricken faces. Reports began to spread, one was that one of the dormitories were burning, another, that one of the large buildings had fallen and crushed a number of students, and one woman fainted when she heard the last report, feeling sure it was the one where "Nellie" was in class.

Presently a herald came slowly marching along announcing in a monotonous chant: "The highway is coming, hurrah, hurrah. The highway is coming, rejoice, rejoice," to the tune "The Campbells are Coming." Then the people's yells were added to the din of the bells and whistles. The Civic League had received a telegram from Chattanooga stating that the Dixie Highway would pass through the town and planned the noisy demonstration.

There are four large churches here. The Christian, Baptist, M. E. and Union. All have regular pastors and splendid Sunday Schools. In addition to these there are about thirty Sunday School classes, taught in different rooms of the college building for the students. A general devotional exercise is held in the Main Chapel, then the 1400 students now here, file out to their separate class rooms. Attending religious services is compulsory on all students. Last Sunday the four churches held their own Sunday Schools, then dispensed with church services and all repaired to the Main Chapel where special memorial services, arranged by Capt. James West Post, G. A. R., were held. The members of the Post occupied reserved seats. The ladies of W. R. C. were seated immediately behind them. The services consisted of a solo, trio, and a quartet appropriate to the occasion, with a memorial address by Dr. Roberts of Union Church. The college and citizens united to show respect and deference to the old soldiers, teaching reverence and patriotism in so doing. Elaborate preparations are being made for Decoration day, the 29th. There will be no school. The faculty, students and many citizens will assist the G. A. R. Post and the W. R. C. in the services. The exercises will begin in the Chapel at 9 a. m., then a parade headed by the college brass band will march to the cemetery for other exercises, including ritual services, then a basket dinner on the campus. The afternoon services will consist of music, an address by President Frost and brief talks from several of the faculty. By special invitation I attended Prof. Knight's S. S. class last Sunday. It was held in No. 14, in Lincoln Hall. This room contains many fine portraits, among them a life size portrait of President Frost, recently painted. It is fine. Prof. Knight has an interesting class of 60 young men and women. Their class motto is "We do things," and if last Sunday's services were a sample, they surely do. The session reminded me of a religious service rather than a S. S. class. Prof. Knight acting as chairman while the secretary called out the names that were to "do" something. The student from Mason county who is "making good" sang a beautiful solo, which with an excellent 10 minute talk from a young man from Vanceburg, Lewis county, made me feel proud of our river county.

ties. The ability shown by these students prove that they will be able to do things worth while when they return home. Another exercise that was especially fine was a quintette beautifully rendered by young men from North Carolina. The closing ten minutes of the hour was devoted to discussion of future work and appointing workers. The class has a fund from which they can draw during vacation for needs in their work. Each member is pledged to assist in S. S. work and to organize new ones where needed during the summer.

SOIL SURVEY OF JESSAMINE COUNTY BEING MADE

Washington, D. C., May 31.—Representatives of the Bureau of Soils, of the United States Department of Agriculture, are now at work upon a complete soil survey of Jessamine County, Kentucky. The party, it is expected will take several months to complete the examination and mapping of the soils of the county.

The Department requests cooperation on the part of farmers and land owners with the Federal Soil Survey. They should be given facilities to make borings and sample the different soils. They are provided with credentials which will be shown upon request.

As soon as they have completed their investigations, they will make a large map showing the various kinds of soils and their location by means of colors and shading. This map will also show the location of the principal roads, schools, churches, railroads and watercourses.

Accompanying the map will be a complete report on the nature of the soils, their suitability for growing various crops, and suggestions for their improvement by fertilizers, cover crops, and crop rotations. This report and the map will not be ready for circulation for some months after completion of the survey.

THE LAST GIFT

In the Group of Handsome Ones Made to the Episcopal Church Consecrated

Yesterday, Trinity Sunday, the elegant pair of polished brass candelabras, given by the King's Daughters were placed in the church of the Nativity. God has greatly prospered the service of this small band of willing workers. The labor of love so humbly begun, years ago, so faithfully continued in Him, is surely "glorifying His Holy Name." A member of Christ, Children of God, are banded together and with heartfelt prayer and earnest service, are speaking loving imitations, that other women, too, may learn of Him. The ascended Lord has left His members each with special work to do, each tongue, each hand, each foot, must do "His will in kind and quantity as His All Wisdom directs," what a wonderful work would be accomplished if, each person, in one little place, should fulfil the task assigned—a perfect whole.

BOILING MUD

Pours Down Sides of Lassen Volcano—Scientists in Peril Zone.

Redding, Cal., May 30.—Lassen Peak burst into violent eruption again today. Another flow of boiling mud is pouring down the sides of the volcano. Fears are felt for the safety of many scientific investigators known to have been in the danger zone.

The eruption today was the first since the destructive outbreak of May 22, and marked the first anniversary of the peak as an active volcano.

As there have been heavy snowfalls since the outbreak a week ago, it is believed that the flood of boiling mud will be even greater than the last and will inundate a large territory.

When the eruption occurred many persons were known to have been in the surrounding territory and even on the peak itself and every effort is being made to assure their safety.

The mud flow today took the direction of Lost and Hat creeks. It was along those streams that devastation previously was wrought.

Forest Supervisor Rushing telephoned to Redding tonight that the eruption broke out in several places on the north side of the peak and that the outbursts appeared finally to unite.

The smoke column seemed heavily laden with ashes and spread out fan shape. Apparently it was unable to lift itself to any considerable height.

A year ago today Lassen Peak broke out with its first eruption since the white race entered California. Since then 90 eruptions, including today's have been observed.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Maysville But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed. Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood. Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidney's cry for help. Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys. Read what Doan's have done for Maysville people.

Lang Stevens, Maysville, Ky., says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had backache, which extended into my kidneys. The kidney action was irregular. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family, so I gave them a trial. They helped me greatly." Mr. Stevens is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Stevens had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. KENTUCKY

Building and Loan Associations Hold Notable Convention in Louisville.

The most notable convention in twenty years' history of building and loan associations in Kentucky, transpired in Louisville last Thursday and Friday when the Kentucky League of Building and Loan Associations held its annual convention there.

A great mass meeting was held Thursday in Macaulay's Theater and every phase of questions pertaining to building and loan operations was clearly defined.

So successful have been the Kentucky associations in stimulating home building that efforts will be made to organize such associations in practically every county in the State and invitations were extended by the seven Louisville associations agreeing to furnish without cost copies of their constitution and by-laws to new organizations.

Many social entertainments were enjoyed by the hundred delegates to the Louisville convention. Eugene Clark, President of the National association was re-elected President of the Kentucky body.

An invitation will be extended to the national association to hold its next meeting in Louisville.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work."

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

DE PALMA BREAKS ALL SPEED RECORDS

Leads In Big 500-Mile Race At Indianapolis—89.84 Miles An Hour.

DE PALMA

Indianapolis, Ind., May 31.—Breaking all speed records for the track and for the world, Ralph De Palma, in his Mercedes, today won the 500 mile sweepstakes with an average time of 89.84 miles an hour.

More than 75,000 people witnessed the race, the finest, cleanest and most exciting in the history of the speedway.

Eario Resta, who earlier this year won the Vanderbilt cup race and the Grand Prix at San Francisco was second in his Peugeot, with an average of 89.28 miles an hour. Gil Anderson, in his Stutz, was third, with an average time of 87.50 miles.

The other seven prize winners, in order, were:

Earl Cooper, Eddie O'Donald, Bob Burman, "Howdy" Wilcox, Tom Alley, Hughie Hughes and Norman Van Ralte.

Rea Thomas, in a DeLade, won last year, with an average of 82.47 miles. Four racers beat that time today. Cooper, who was fourth, made a mark of 86.19 miles, nearly four miles faster.

All but Van Ralte beat the best time of 1912 and the tail ender was better than the best of 1911.

Twenty-four cars started and 11 finished. The only one outside the money was the tiny car Emden, made for the fighting German cruiser.

FINAL DECISION WITHHELD

Pending Receipt of America's Reply To the Note From Berlin.

Berlin, May 30.—Germany withholds its final decision on the demands by the United States Government in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania until the receipt of an answer from the United States to the note which Herr Von Jagow, Foreign Minister, has delivered to Ambassador Gerard in reply to the American note by the German Government on May 15.

In its reply the German Government declares that it is not its intention to submit neutral ships in the war zones, which are guilty of no hostile acts, to attacks by submarine or aeroplane; that it is investigating the circumstances in connection with the attacks on the American steamers Eushing and Gulfight, and that in all cases where neutral vessels, through no fault of their own, have been damaged, Germany will pay indemnification.

Says Lusitania Was Armed

The reply urges that in case of the Lusitania, which Germany alleges was armed and carried large stores of war munitions, it was "acting in justified self-defense in seeking with all the means of warfare at its disposition to protect the lives of its soldiers by destroying ammunition intended for the enemy."

The German Government recalls the proposals submitted by the United States Government to Berlin and London, designed to end the submarine warfare and the shutting out of food supplies from Germany, British Government to agree to them.

POLICE COURT

Edward Wood a well known and much liked young man of this city was before the Judge on Monday on the charge of disorderly conduct, but as the evidence failed to disclose wrong doing on his part he was dismissed.

James Tudor was brought before the Judge on a charge of being drunk and after telling the Judge all about it was dismissed. J. M. Henson was before the court on a charge of allowing a gambling game to be operated on his premises. His case was continued.

Saturday a young man came to the Police officials and made an affidavit that two formerly prominent men of this city were operating a gambling machine. This is a penitentiary offense, with a term of not less than one year, or more than three, and a fine of $500. Monday this young man again came before the officials and declared that he did not realize what he was doing as his mind was in a befuddled condition from drink, and as the Police did not have any evidence the case against the men was dropped.

WALL NECESSARY AT BULL CREEK TO PROTECT C. & O.

It now looks as if the C. & O. railroad will be compelled to build a heavy wing wall on the south side of the fill at Bull Creek.

The recent heavy rains caused that stream to do all sorts of queer stunts in the way of washing in that vicinity. Coming down towards the railroad, it washed away about half an acre of the land belonging to Mr. W. Houston Hall on the west side of the creek, causing the waters to run against the fill, and unless a wing wall is built to force this stream to the culvert direct and divert it from the fill there will likely be trouble for the railroad, as the water will undermine the fill and cause it to cave in.

As the C. & O. officials remember the terrible wreck at Bull creek, it is not likely they will allow another disaster, and will get busy at once and do the necessary work to protect the fill from future washings.

Contractor Sam T. Farrow has certainly had his troubles contending with Jubiter Pluvius and the soft earth in building the foundation for the Everett warehouse on East Second street. Last night several places the contractor ready to begin pouring concrete this morning caved in and this has been the case almost every day for the past three weeks.

WOMEN HAVE TO SMILE

In a great many cases and try to make those around them happy, while they are racked with the pain of organic trouble. Few men realize how common such heroism is. The remedy for this condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, which for forty years has been overcoming the most obstinate ills of women. Every woman suffering from female ills owes it to herself and family to give it a fair trial.
